Stockholm Stream Media Enhances Delta System SaaS Offering with Video Translation for Nordic Languages through Partnership with JuneFirst

Stockholm Stream, a leading provider of cutting-edge SaaS solutions, is thrilled to announce a significant enhancement to its Delta platform. Customers can now enjoy seamless video translation capabilities for Nordic languages and English, thanks to a strategic partnership with JuneFirst, a renowned player in the media industry.

The integration of JuneFirst's expertise in video translation services into the Delta platform marks a major milestone in providing users with a comprehensive solution for creating subtitles and captions in Nordic languages including Danish, Finnish, Norwegian, and Swedish, along with English.

This collaboration between Delta System and JuneFirst leverages the strengths of both platforms, combining Delta's powerful SaaS capabilities with JuneFirst's proficiency in accurate and efficient video translation services.

The result is a user-friendly experience that empowers content creators, media professionals, and businesses to expand their reach across linguistic boundaries.

Key Features of the Enhanced Delta SaaS Service:

- Multi-Lingual Video Translation: Delta now supports the translation of videos into Nordic languages and English, allowing users to create subtitles and captions that cater to diverse audiences.
- Effortless Integration: The seamless integration of JuneFirst's translation services into the Delta platform ensures a user-friendly experience, eliminating the need for additional partners or complex workflows.

- Enhanced Accessibility: Content creators can now broaden their audience base by providing accurate and culturally relevant subtitles, ensuring inclusivity and accessibility for viewers across the Nordic region and English-speaking audiences.
- Time Efficiency: The collaboration between Delta System and JuneFirst streamlines the video translation process, reducing the time for publishing the assets.

"We are excited to announce our partnership with JuneFirst, which adds a new dimension to our Delta platform. This integration not only reflects our commitment to continually enhance our SaaS offerings but also empowers our users to communicate effectively with audiences in the Nordic region and English-speaking markets." said [Patrik Littmann, CEO at Stockholm Stream]

Delta System and JuneFirst are confident that this collaboration will significantly impact the way content is shared and consumed globally, breaking down language barriers and fostering a more connected and inclusive digital experience.
